

iBridge LPO e-Discovery Services

Electronic data discovery (EDD) is where technology and the art of data extraction converge. EDD must be conducted effectively under proper supervision of trained experts who understand acceptable industry standards because evidence is fragile, easily erased and can be compromised. Litigators practicing in today's digital environment must understand the various ways information can be stored and retrieved not only to ensure compliance with discovery rules, but also to build the best possible case for their client. Failing to do so may not only prejudice the case, but may be malpractice.

iBridge LPO partners with Law Firms, and Corporate Legal Departments and offers advanced technology solutions at each stage of the e-Discovery process: electronic data collection, restoration, profiling, culling, reviewing, converting, and production.

Litigators can depend on iBridge LPO for e-Discovery solutions because of iBridge LPO's powerful new technology and litigation experts to build customized solutions for evidence and data discovery and to give you the advantage you need to win at a fraction of the cost.
